1. It has come to our attention that the Library surplus books you have been receiving are not being sent gratis but charged against the QKACTIVE budget. So far the charges have amounted to $250.00. It occurs to us that you may not be aware of this and that you might not consider them worth the charge as well as the heavy cost of the transportation. 2. The Library informs us that from 10 months to a year after the lists are issued, the books listed are declared obsolete and are given away to individuals or to the Library of Congress. If your selections were held up until the books were declared obsolete your request would have preferential treatment. 3. In view of this information you may wish to hold up your requests or have us hold them up until the date approaches. On the other hand you may want us to process the requests as we have been doing, in which case more selectivity in choosing the titles might be indicated. 4. Reference is being held up pending your reply.
